

ACCEPT DEBT PLANS, HARDING TELLS CONGRESS

URGES ACTION ON AGREEMENT WITH BRITAIN

Lawmakers Are Also Reminded Of Ship Subsidy Measure
In Message

BULLETIN
Washington—Immediately after President Harding had addressed congress a bill to amend the debt law to provide for acceptance of the British settlements with other debtor nations on similar terms was introduced by Senator Snoot, Republican of Utah, a member of the debt commission.

Washington—Congressional approval of the war debt funding agreement negotiated with Great Britain was requested by President Harding Wednesday as a "recommitment of the English speaking world to the validity of contract."

Coupled with this approval the president added in an address at a joint session of the senate and house, congress should enact into law the administration's ship bill because "it is as important to avoid losses as it is to secure funds on debts." Ample time for action on both these measures was declared by Mr. Harding.

Remains before the present congress goes out of existence on March 4, and either, he said, was fit to be recorded as a chapter of great achievements.

UP TO CONGRESS
The president made no specific recommendation as to the form the action of congress on the British debt should take, leaving it to the leaders in congress to decide what method should be adopted to amend the present law so as to permit consummation of the agreement recently reached by the American and British debt commissions.

"It was manifest from the beginning," he said, "that Great Britain could not undertake any program of payment which would conform to the limitations of time and interest rates which the commission had been authorized to grant but here was a great nation acknowledging its obligations and seeking terms in which it might repay."

"So your commission proceeded to negotiate in business way for a fair and just settlement of the debt," he said, "and it is a commendable thing that you have done."

"It means vastly more than the mere funding and the 'ultimate discharge of the largest international loan ever contracted. It is a recommitment of the English-speaking world to the validity of contract, it is in effect a pledge against war and war expenses and a pledge to the world that reduction and retrenchment which enhances stability precisely as it discharges obligations."

GIVES HINT
Alluding indirectly to proposals to attach to the congressional act of approval, a soldiers' bonus bill the president reminded congress that the war time authorization for the bonus contained in itself a stipulation that when the money was paid back it should be applied to the retirement of liberty bonds and other government issues.

As a part of his statement on the debt negotiations the executive read a report from the American commission, headed by Secretary Mellon, describing the settlement as "fair and just."

Mr. Harding's appeal for action on the ship bill was prompted, he said by suggestions that its opponents were seeking to prevent a roll call on it before the end of the session.

"Here avoidance by prolonged debate," he declared, "is a mark of politeness on a vital public question. I plead for a decision. If there is a favorable majority, the bill should be enacted. If a majority is opposed defeat will be decisive. Then, if congress fails in providing the requested alternative measure, the executive branch of the government may proceed as best it can to end the losses in liquidation and humiliation."

FARM CREDIT BILLS STRIKE SNAG IN HOUSE

Committee Holds That Lenroot
And Capper Measures
Have Duplications

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923 by the Post Pub Co.
Washington—President Harding has been told that serious differences of opinion exist in the house banking and currencies committee which will have to be ironed out before farm credits legislation can be adopted by the house.

These differences are not insurmountable but they involve some fundamental questions which will put the burden of explanation on the champions of rural credits to prove that the Lenroot-Anderson bill and the Capper bill both of which have passed the senate do not duplicate each other.

HOUSE DISAPPOINTED
There is considerable disappointment in the house that the senate in effect "passed the buck" to the other branch of congress without examining these two measures, and either drawing them into one bill or eliminating the duplicating features.

One school of thought insists, of course that both bills are necessary and that both will be helpful. If this is true—and there is no disposition in the house to form a judgement without careful study of the measures—then the two bills will be adopted.

VOTE FOR EUGENICS LAW FOR WOMEN

MADISON—The Wisconsin senate Wednesday sent to engrossment the Barber bill including women under provision of the state eugenics law. This proposal, accepted without a dissenting vote in the senate would require that women submit to an antenatal physical examination in the same manner as the men before being granted a license to marry. A bill by Senator Titus providing that personal property in the state be assessed where that property is located rather than in the district where its owner resides, was sent to engrossment. Action on the initiative and referendum proposal of Senator Huber was laid over until Thursday when a fight over the suggested constitutional amendment started to develop.

ZONA GALE NAMED

Noted Author And Senator Casperson Are Appointed By Governor Blaine

By Associated Press
Madison—Miss Zona Gale, Portage, and Senator C. B. Casperson, Fredrick, were appointed to the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin Wednesday by Governor J. J. Blaine. Miss Gale, well known author and a leader among the LaFollette progressive Republican women of the state, will succeed Mrs. Florence G. Buckstaff, Oshkosh, the regent at large. Her term is for six years.

Senator Casperson, a LaFollette progressive member of the legislature, succeeds Peter Elmon, Superior, as the regent representative from the Eleventh congressional district. His term likewise is for six years.

With these two appointments Governor Blaine has named six members to the university board of regents which has a total membership of fourteen. Control of that body is sought by the governor. A bill to make possible immediate control is before the legislature, having been introduced by Senator W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac.

Open War Against High State Taxes

Progressive Senator Deserts
Blaine Ranks—Says Dahl
And Severson Measure Will Drive Away Industries

MADISON—Two moves to defeat the Severson income surtax bill and the Dahl general income tax bill were evident in the legislature Wednesday. They both are based upon the belief expressed by their authors that the income tax proposals now before the legislature would endanger industry.

Senator George P. Czerwinski, Milwaukee, introduced a resolution in the upper house calling for appointment of an interim committee of three members from the assembly and two from the senate to study the entire tax question and report to the 1925 session of the legislature. In the meantime he would have proposed tax legislation held up.

Senator Herman Bilgren, Iron Ridge, elected with the LaFollette-Blaine endorsement announced that he would have a sub-amendment to the Severson surtax bill making drastic changes in that proposal which he declared would be antagonistic to the interests of industry in Wisconsin. He said that he would oppose both the Dahl and Severson bills.

The Czerwinski resolution said that the two general tax measures now before the legislature after introduction by administration leaders are unscientifically drawn without consideration given to their possible effect. He declared that he could support neither until a thorough study had been made of taxes and a bill based upon the results of that study, presented.

Both of these moves are taken as attempts to defeat tax legislation at the present session of the legislature.

DOUGH BOYS REACH SAVANNAH HARBOR

By Associated Press
Savannah, Ga.—The transport St. Mihiel with the American troops from Germany arrived at Tybee bar at 12 o'clock. Conveyed by the cutter Yamacraw and tug McCauley she proceeded to quarantine.

At 12:45 o'clock the transport again was under way having been cleared by quarantine officers. While at anchor the congressional party aboard the cutter Yamacraw and newspapermen on the tug McCauley boarded the ship. They were vociferously greeted by the dough boys.

Arrival of the transport at the city limits was announced by the boom of two brass cannon. The cannon, captured from the British at Yorktown, Va. and presented to the Chatham artillery in 1790 by George Washington, were fired by a special crew of members of the Chatham artillery, who served in that unit in the Civil and Spanish American wars. A salvo from a battery of French 75's followed.

FRENCH TAKE THREE MORE RUHR TOWNS

By Associated Press
Essen—The German information bureau announces that the French have occupied Lennep, a Rhinish textile city, as well as Kreesau and Bergisch-Born, two smaller towns nearby.

According to the same source the French advance is apparently part of an encircling movement which will include the occupation of Elberfeld and Barmen, both of which are textile centers.

Lennep, a city of 15,000 persons, is 22 miles south east of Dusseldorf. Iron and steel goods are also manufactured there.

The extension of the French occupation to the upper valley was accomplished by about 900 soldiers, the Germans assert. The French traveled in lorries, starting Tuesday noon from the British occupied area.

Papers Turks Threaten To Oust Allied Ships From Smyrna Harbor

Constantinople—The Turkish commander at Smyrna has informed the commanders of the Allied warships there that he has orders to enforce their withdrawal if they do not comply with the Turkish order to leave Smyrna.

BULLETIN
Constantinople—The Turkish commander at Smyrna has informed the commanders of the Allied warships there that he has orders to enforce their withdrawal if they do not comply with the Turkish order to leave Smyrna.

LAUSANNE—Ismet Pasha and the principal members of the Turkish conference delegation left Lausanne for Angora at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. A secretary remained behind. Several journalists accompanied the party.

George Tchitcherine, the Russian foreign minister, will start Wednesday night for Moscow. Thus after 79 days of ceaseless negotiations in an effort to establish peace in the Near East and restore Turkey to "the comity of nations," nothing has been accomplished. However, no one wants war and efforts will now be directed to obtaining the signature of what one diplomat called "a patched up peace."

PARIS—Even tenacious optimists admitted Wednesday that prospects of sliding the Lausanne treaty between the powers and the Turks appeared to have receded into the distant future.

Ismet Pasha, it seems, had another change of mind almost before the train bearing the French delegation homeward from Lausanne was out of sight, abandoning the conciliatory attitude which so impressed M. Bernard. This further manifestation of Turkey's facile changes of front have had an exasperating effect on Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary and even on friends of Turkey in France.

Therefore, when the British government declared that Ismet must put into writing the text of the clauses in which he and the allies were in agreement, together with a detailed plan concerning those to be reserved for annexed territories, further asserting that the economic questions ought to be settled at once, Premier Poincare hastened to indorse this viewpoint and communicate it to Ismet.

The position of the Turkish delegation was summarized here Wednesday as follows:

"The whole treaty would be subjected to fresh examination; all questions unsettled at noon Sunday or just previous to the break, should be reserved for consideration; the economic clauses should be separated from the treaty. It is not for the Turks to define the condition which they might sign the treaty but rather for the Allies to do so. Meanwhile the Turks wait for the powers to take the initiative."

CREW TAKES TO LIFE BOATS AS SHIPS COLLIDE

Passenger Boat With Several Hundred Persons Aboard
Figures In Accident

BULLETIN
San Francisco—Four hours after the passenger liner Wilhelmina collided with the wooden motor ship, Sierra, at sea about twenty miles from San Francisco at 4:15 o'clock Wednesday morning, the crew of the Sierra had taken to life boats while the Wilhelmina was in no danger and was undamaged except for a dented bow.

SEND HELP
San Francisco—Collision between the passenger liner, Wilhelmina and the steam schooner, Sierra, seven miles off San Francisco light ship and about 25 miles from this city was described in wireless messages received at the Federal Telegraph company's beach station at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Both ships backed away quickly.

A tug was started from San Francisco within 20 minutes after the vessels called for help.

The Sierra, shortly after the collision began sending S. O. S. messages. The Wilhelmina replied:

"I am leaking also but will stand by."

The Wilhelmina, owned by the Madison Navigation Company was inbound from Honolulu. The number of passengers she carried has not been learned at daybreak, but she often has taken from 200 to 300. The Sierra is believed to have a crew of from 25 to 30.

"SINKING FAST"
At 4:57 the Sierra spoke: "Lasting 45 degrees and sinking fast." The Wilhelmina asked whether the Sierra could make it to the life ship. The schooner replied that she could not proceed because her engine room was flooded. At 5:15 she added, "Wheeling fast." The Wilhelmina continued to stand by. Other than that she was "leaking," the Wilhelmina gave the air no information about herself, but shipping men here took this to mean that she was in no immediate danger and probably could rescue the crew of the Sierra.

The point where the collision occurred is near the Farallon Islands. The Wilhelmina has a tonnage of 6,725; the Sierra is a wooden lumber schooner with a net tonnage of 1,034, owned by the E. K. Wood Lumber company, San Francisco is the home port of both vessels.

SENDS OUT S. O. S.

STURGEON BAY SCHOOLS
Sturgeon Bay—All public schools, theatres and other public gathering places in Sturgeon Bay have been closed starting last night until Feb. 12, by an order issued by the local health department. The reason given by the health department for its edict is the epidemic of a light form of "flu" or "grip" which had cut the school attendance down to 40 per cent.

The old rate was a dollar a share. Under the stock dividend the rate per share was reduced to 62 1/2 cents but each stockholder who now has two shares instead of one formerly will receive $12.50. The dividend is payable on March 15.

WOULD REMODEL LAWS OF STATE

Senate Committee Recommends Convention To Change Constitution

By Associated Press
Madison—A constitutional convention to remodel the basic law of Wisconsin which for 75 years has served the state without fundamental change was recommended by the senate judiciary committee Wednesday with Senator Howard Tensdale, Sparta, as sponsor.

This proposal made by Senator Hirsch, Milwaukee, Socialist, was given the sanction of the committee after an extended hearing. Its purpose, according to expression of those appearing in its support is largely to do away with the section of the constitution limiting the amount of debt the state can incur.

Without dissent, the judiciary committee recommended for passage the bill calling for submission to the people of a proposed constitutional amendment to give all Wisconsin cities home rule. This measure has passed one session of the legislature, and if again approved will go to the people for a vote in 1924.

COEDS UNINJURED WHEN TREE FALLS

Rotted Trunk Causes Fall In Wrong Direction Near
Sage Dormitory

Co-eds rooming at Russell Sage dormitory narrowly escaped injury Monday while at windows watching the falling of a large oak tree immediately west of the building. The tree was decayed and Frank Bartz was ordered to remove it.

In cutting it down, Mr. Bartz took every precaution to have it fall away from the building, but owing to decay it went in the opposite direction when Gustave Kranzsch, who was assisting Mr. Bartz, inserted a wedge.

The tree damaged the roof and smashed the windows of the different floors with which it came in contact. The trunk broke in two when it struck the building.

The tree was the second of two which were being felled and was the larger of them. The first fell in the direction intended for it and did no damage.

FURS AND MYSTERY

By
A. Carstensen
Appleton's Exclusive Furrier
WHEN AND WHERE GOOD
SKINS ARE PROCURED

It may be interesting to know that the skins of animals caught in densely wooded districts are much darker and of a higher quality than those caught in the more exposed regions, the fur being softer and more silky.

The colder the season or region in which the animals are caught, the better the color and quality of the fur. For that reason the skins of the hamster, marmot, Chinese goat and lamb, Tartar, pony, weasel, various monkeys, antelope fox, otter, jackals and other animals captured in the warmer zones, were until a few years ago, quite neglected. However, the demand for furs and the desire to have which these skins are dressed or dyed and many made up to resemble that which they are not, has brought them into greater use.

Thanks to the vagaries of fashion, some furs are occasionally neglected, giving Nature an opportunity to replenish their source. Were it not for this, some fur-bearing animals would soon become extinct.

The sea otter in particular is rapidly becoming extinct through increasing demand and decreasing supply. A mature sea otter often exceeds six feet in length and an exceptionally fine skin will bring in the neighborhood of two thousand dollars. The fur is beautiful beyond description, attractive and luxurious as well as exceptionally durable.

Variations in the color of the fur are many and marked—the rich, lustrous black is interspersed with glistening white hairs or silvery-white hairs sprinkled irregularly over the surface of the dense fur. Some skins are deep brown, shading into black, some bluish-grey, some a beautiful plum color and others slightly yellow.

The fur of the sea otter was long a favorite with royalty in Russia, and China, and because of its scarcity and great value few of us can afford to wear it.

The fur of the land otter is coarser and, in many respects, much different from that of the sea otter. adv.

"Ground Robin" New Harbinger Of Miss Spring

Ever since the first reporter began scouting around for personals, births and deaths, the robin has been regarded as the official harbinger of spring. For generations there has been an annual contest to be the first to rush into the newspaper office with the information that a robin had been sighted, now spring is here, tra la, tra la.

Now comes one Henry Fulcer who lives on Second-ave with a brand new harbinger. He waited into the office this morning and announced that he had found a "ground robin" hopping around at the corner of Appleton st. and Second-ave. A ground robin was a new one on the naturalists in this office and they demanded that he produce his evidence. He did it was a nice, healthy looking bull frog, full of hops and ready to go. Mr. Frog, Fulcer said, was taking a sun bath on a pile of snow when he was captured. A gang of fishermen, with their tongues hanging out, swarmed around Fulcer and suggested Mr. Frog would make excellent bait but the proud owner said "nothing doing" and went out to show the rest of the astonished populace what he had found.

Address Annual Summer
Convention

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold its next annual convention at Wausau June 20, 21, 22 and 23. This was decided upon at a meeting of state officials at Wausau last week. It was attended by Judge Albert H. Schmidt of Manitowish in his capacity as chair-

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

SEEK PEOPLE WHO KNEW HENRY PETERS, MENASHA

R. A. Wisener, assistant postmaster of Wapukoleta, Ohio, is endeavoring through the newspapers to locate relatives of Henry Peters who lived in Menasha about 1898. He said he was sure that not long ago relatives of his were living in Appleton. The information is desired by his mother who has met with a serious mishap. Any information should be forwarded to the Rev. F. L. Schreckenberg, by whom the person will be compensated.

man of the board of trustees of the Eagle state association. Preliminary plans for the convention were adopted.

Use of the fair grounds owned by the county was tendered the organization for the big Mardi Gras which will be the grand finale to the four-day meet. The public meeting, which always opens the state convention will be held June 20 and Frank Herring, editor of the Eagles magazine, will be one of the speakers. Col. Roosevelt, son of the former president, will be invited to take part in the program.

JOIN WELFARE EFFORT FOR VETERANS OF WAR

Welfare work for disabled and needy veterans of the world war will be carried on in the city jointly by Oney Johnston post of the American Legion and the Women's auxiliary hereafter under a plan that is being formulated by George Merkel, chairman of the legion welfare committee.

This method will avoid duplication. It is believed, and will mean more effective relief work for the men or their families. Each member of both the legion and the auxiliary will be instructed to inform some other member of the joint welfare committee concerning men who are ill or in need of help themselves or in their homes.

IT STARTS PROMPTLY IN THE COLDEST WEATHER

The behavior of Dodge Brothers Motor Car on zero days is a fair example of its fitness the year round.

You turn the switch, step on the button, and the motor starts—without undue noise or delay.

The reasons are readily understood:

The coordination of the power plant is well nigh flawless. The slightest impulse sets it in motion.

The battery—6-cells, 12-volts—is unusually large.

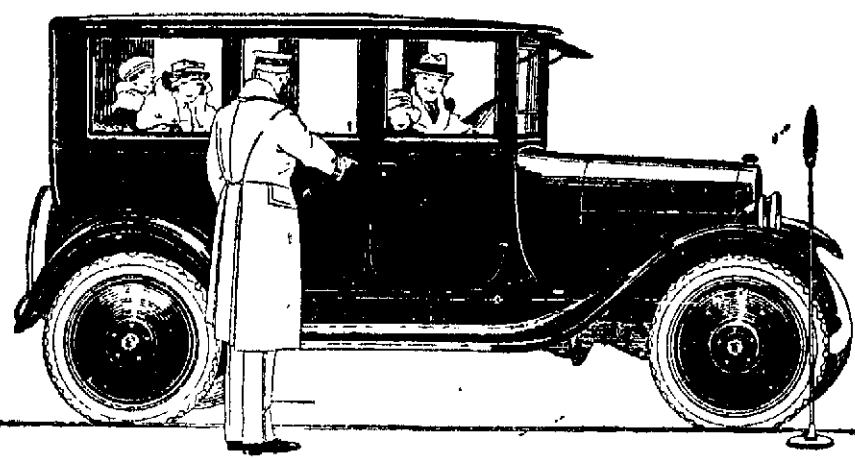

A high-vacuum carburetor so thoroughly vaporizes the gasoline that it ignites instantly under the spark.

The electrical system is remarkably efficient and cuts to a minimum the usual voltage loss between battery and starter.

Finally, the starter, itself—an admirable example of its kind—is directly united with the engine by a chain drive which is always in mesh—a fact having much to do with the promptness and quietness of its action.

FINDS 'SUCKERS' BITE SECOND TIME ON STOCK SCHEMES

Cut-rich-quick Men Find "Once Bitten" Doesn't Mean "Twice Shy"

BY EDWARD A. SCHWAB
New York.—Because a sucker bites once on a fake stock scheme isn't any reason why he's immune from other getting-rich-quick swindlers.

The clever faker knows that most suckers bite again and again. This knowledge gave birth to what is known as the "special trustee" scheme. It is a "skilful" hoax that capitalizes sympathy and actually robs the speculator of the one chance of the one chance of E. A. SCHWAB he may have to recoup his losses.

The "special trustee" is familiar in the oil and mining games. The faker using this scheme keeps his eye on all the stock companies afloat in his region. Perhaps one, say in oil, has the earmarks of legitimacy and actually looks like an honest investment. The faker employs an agent to buy or procure in some manner a list of stockholders in this concern.

Armed with this he prepares a letterhead purporting to be that of the company "he plans to operate" on. A letter is written on this stationery addressed: "Dear Stockholder." And he signs it with the signature of one of his employees and the title: "Special Trustee for Stockholders."

TRADE IS OFFERED

The letter intimates that the stock of the legitimate company is overvalued, that the company is about to go on the rocks. It gives the impression that he, as special trustee, is looking after the stockholders' interests, and he urges the stockholder receiving the letter to save what he can from the wreckage by trading his stock for "something much better."

This is the bait: "The way is now open for you to make a profit on your previous investment. You may have lost before, or you may have thought you lost. But you can afford to lose five times if you win once. Here is your chance to win."

When the frightened sucker trades in his good stock he gets in return a stock of very problematical value—for which he has to pay more money, usually 25 per cent. And the "special trustee" unloads the good stock at a profit in the open market, but at such a depressed price as to cripple the good company.

TAKE UP TRAINING OF RURAL MENTORS

Principals of county training schools, local county supervisors and members of the state department of education met at Madison last week to consider progressive policies for the training of rural teachers.

The principal speaker was Miss Mabel Curney of Columbia university, recognized national authority on training of rural teachers. Assistant State Superintendent, J. J. Anderson outlined the results of a study of the training and experience of rural school teachers in Wisconsin, which he showed are a little better than the average.

Principal C. L. Hill of Viroqua led the discussion on the department's program as presented by Mr. Anderson. Among the principals of county training schools in attendance was W. F. Hagmann of Kaukauna.

BEVERIDGE MAY BE ADJUTANT GENERAL

There is a possibility that Col. Byron Beveridge, former newspaperman, here, now connected with the adjutant general's office in Madison might succeed the late Orlando Hebery as adjutant general of Wisconsin. Beveridge is considered by military men to be one of the best informed men on the national guard in the entire country. He has been in military service for more than a quarter of a century.

Lieut. Col. Charles Williams of Camp Douglas, quartermaster of the guard, also is being considered for the place.

Poetry Is Best Medium For Expressing Love For Mother

Quite a long time ago somebody suggested that "poetry is the language of the heart" and the Mother Poetry contest, conducted by the Post-Crescent indicates that he knew what he was talking about. Poetry presents the very best medium for expressing the affection we have for our mothers, for giving vent to the feeling in our hearts. The number of poems submitted in the contest indicates the widespread interest that has been aroused.

Three judges who are competent to

CONTEST RULES
All readers of the Post-Crescent, except employees of the newspaper are eligible. Poems must be original. The contest will close at noon on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The winners will be announced Wednesday, Feb. 14, St. Valentine's day. Poems must not be more than eight lines or less than six lines. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of sentiment, originality, metre and neatness of the poetry. Names and addresses of authors must accompany the poems. Names of authors will be detached before the poems are submitted to the judges. Poems will be printed daily with the initials of the authors. Readers may submit as many poems as they wish but only one prize will be given to one person. Awards will be $5 for first prize; $3 for second prize and $2 for third prize.

pass on poetry will determine the winners of the three prizes. All poems must be in the hands of the contest editor by noon on Feb. 13 and the prize winners will be announced on Feb. 14, St. Valentine's day. Rules governing the contest are printed herewith. All readers of the Post-Crescent, except its employees, are eligible to win prizes. Originality, sentiment, metre, rhyme and neatness will be taken into consideration by the judges in selecting the winners. The poems should be expressive of affection and regard for mother. The season, approaching St. Valentine's day, is particularly appropriate for a contest of this kind.

I cannot write what my heart would say.

But I wish you would know, mother of mine;
What your love means to me, as I strive day by day.
Mother, my Valentine.

The world would surely cease to be,
The stars no longer shine,
If your love, so dear, was not for me,
Mother, my Valentine.

Timesilvered hair
Frames your face, lined with care;
Your eyes dimmed with Sorrow, still shine.
With a love-light as true
As the heart of you,
Dear old mother of mine.

Don't forget to write to mother.
She's longing for you day by day;
Just a line from you would soothe her
When you've wandered far away.

Don't forget there's not another

In this wide, wide world today.
Who would take the place of mother
When from this earth she's passed away.

My Mother's Love
Mother's arms were made for holding
Loved ones snug and tight.
Mother's hands were made for
Soothing childish woes at night.

Mother's lips were made for kissing
To stop the flow of tears, and may
God in Heaven bless and keep her
For many, many years.

Mother love is eternal,
Mother love is divine,
Mother love is sublime,
How can I picture the depths
Of mother love
With this poor pen of mine? A. A.

Very Remarkable British Case
Church Street, Malpas, Cheshire, England.

"For eleven years I suffered acute pain and sickness. I consulted several prominent doctors and each had a different opinion. At last I was put under X-rays. I was suffering from gall stones. My doctors and the specialist at the Royal Infirmary, Chester, told me they were not porous and no medicine would move them, so there remained nothing but an operation. When my wife heard this she told me to get Dodd's Kidney Pills, as they had cured her of black jaundice and gall stones. It is now nineteen years since my wife felt any symptoms of these troubles. I purchased a quantity of Dodd's Kidney Pills and took them. This is seven years ago and I have had no return of the trouble."

"It was a surprise for all the doctors. They had to admit the fact as I was under the X-rays several times. I am enjoying the best of health and have lost no time through sickness. Dr. Frank Matthews, Welsh Row, Nantwich, has a photo of my kidneys and the stones. I also suffered with rheumatism before I was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I have recommended these pills to all sufferers I know. They are simply unrivaled in relieving sufferers of kidney and rheumatic complaints. I also know of a case of Bright's Disease which they cured."

Signed, GEORGE ROBERTS.

FEW SEATS LEFT FOR CONCERT IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Minneapolis Symphony Plays To Capacity Crowds On 1923 Tour

There still is an opportunity for music lovers to obtain seats for the concert by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening. About 150 tickets were left at noon, indicating there will be a few available when the chapel doors are opened shortly after 7 o'clock.

The demand for tickets from out of town music lovers continued until this noon. Reservation for seats have been received from persons living in Antigo, Clintonville and Oconto. The concert tonight is the only opportunity that people in this section of the state have to hear the famous orchestra.

Children almost filled the chapel for the matinee concert in the afternoon. Large numbers of youngsters came from Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and other nearby cities. Teachers accompanied the children.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has been greeted by capacity audiences at every concert it has played on its present tour. Madison gave the orchestra an enormous reception and Milwaukee reports a sellout for Thursday's concert.

ATTEND MEETING OF STATE NIMRODS

Grant Phillips, M. A. Schwab and several other members of Wisconsin Fish and Game Protective association in this locality are spending Wednesday in Milwaukee attending a conference of state officials of this organization with leaders of the Isaac Walton League.

The aim of the meeting is to decide how the two organizations may attribute to the interest of fish and game conservation. The Isaac Walton League is a comparatively new sportsmen's body, duplicating much of the work of the Wisconsin association. It is believed that the identity of the Badger association will be retained and that some plan of cooperation will be adopted in order that Wisconsin nimrods may work with the Walton League in nationwide matters.

Rev. Edmund Heslop Calls It A Blessing

The Rev. Edmund Heslop of Wigton, Pa., suffered from dropsy for a year. His limbs and feet were swollen. He had heart fluttering, fitful appetite, was heavy and sleepy after meals. There were dark circles round his eyes, which were swollen and puffed. He became exhausted at the least exertion; was dizzy and suffered very much from shortness of breath. His limbs were heavy and he had such a dragging sensation across the loins that he had no power to move. His skin was dry and harsh. His hands and feet were cold. He has used five boxes of DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, and the swelling is all gone, and he looks like himself. He says he has been benefited and blessed by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"On December 29, 1910, I write to say that I have not changed my faith in the value of your remedy since the publication of the above statement was authorized, and I have no hesitation to make in the same."

College Gets Historic Paper From Library

An historical document relating to the early history of Lawrence college will change hands, according to action taken by the Appleton Library board at its meeting Tuesday.

This document is a petition signed by several citizens of the territory of Wisconsin memorializing the territorial council and house of representatives to incorporate Lawrence institute. It was drafted Dec. 29, 1846.

For years this memorial has been in possession of Appleton public library. Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of the college, requested the library board that it be transferred to that institution. The memorialists petitioned the legislature to incorporate an institution to be known as Lawrence institute and to be located on the Fox river between Grand Kaukauna (Kaukauna) and Lake Winnebago, the establishment being made possible through the liberal offer of "a gentleman of Boston," Amos A. Lawrence.

U. S. CITIES ARE FAVORING ZONING

Washington — Zoning ordinances have been adopted by 109 municipalities throughout the country, according to records obtained by the divisions of Building and House, Department of Commerce.

The report shows the rapid progress of zoning since Jan. 1, 1922 when only 55 municipalities had such ordinances in effect. The report lists six Wisconsin cities as having zoning ordinances, the most comprehensive being in Milwaukee and Janesville where the ordinance regulates use, height and area of buildings.

The ordinances at Oshkosh, La Crosse and Racine simply regulate the use of the building. The first zoning law was passed in Wisconsin in 1914 and Neenah in 1915 passing the first zoning ordinance in the state, the report said.

ON THE SCREEN

"OLIVER TWIST" IS HAILED AS TRUE SCREEN MASTERPIECE

A great many of the patrons of the Elito Theatre, yesterday went to enjoy a screen series of anties performed by the screen's most gifted and desirable boy. They remained to marvel at the genius of a real actor to whom comedy is but one of many forms of expression. Many were impelled by their love for the lad whose image they have watched so many times projected on the silver sheet. They remained to thrill in the presence of a tiny tragedian, Jackie Coogan was the boy, the play was Frank Lloyd's adaptation of Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist" presented as a First National Attraction.

It cannot be said that any novel of the length of "Oliver Twist" can be set forth either on stage or screen and remain in perfect agreement with the original; but, while some will wish that this or that episode had been chosen from the book rather than what was filmed, it must be conceded that Mr. Lloyd took with a logical hand those portions of the novel that lent themselves best to the medium of the screen and were most readily welded into a plot paralleling that told by Dickens—the story of how Monks first tried to destroy the soul of Oliver and then plotted to destroy his life.

JOHN BARRYMORE'S NEW FILM ROLE

John Barrymore, whose screen appearances have been marked by quality rather than quantity is now showing at the Majestic Theatre in a characterization which he has declared to be the most interesting he has ever made—more other than fiction's greatest detective—Sherlock Holmes.

"Sherlock Holmes" was directed by Al Parker. Perhaps no other character in fiction is so universally liked and known, and from all indications, the same universal interest is attaching itself to the picture of the famous detective story. Aside from the magnet of having so distinguished an actor essay the stellar role, the supporting cast has been chosen with such definite care and detail, that it reads like a roster of the best known players of the stage and screen. In fact, the making of the picture was delayed until every character down to the most unimportant super, was perfectly cast.

In the cast of players occur such distinguished names as Carol Dempster, who plays the role of Alice Panlenger, Roland Young, who is the faithful Watson, and Gustave von Seyffertitz, who gives an amazing portrait of the despicable Professor Moriarty. Hedda Hopper, Anders Randolph, Percival Knight, Lumsden Hare, Louis Wolheim, John Willard and Reginald Denny are also in the roster.

THE WEIRD LOGIC OF THE ISOLATIONISTS

Back from his tour of Europe Senator McCormick of Illinois has taken the time of the senate to tell his colleagues that his travels have confirmed him in the beliefs he held before he left. They have shown him that Europe is in bad shape, squabbling and kicking and fighting and getting further into debt; consequently the United States—as Ambassador Harvey put it to a dinner of Republican senators—is “damned well out of the whole mess.”

The weird logic which Mr. McCormick employs is the device of all the isolationists. It assumes that the United States has had no part whatever in the creation of these conditions abroad, and that our almost complete withdrawal from European affairs—the withdrawal of the most influential nation and the creditor of all—has not been responsible for any of the existing despair and wretchedness. It then takes up these conditions as evidence of a state of perversion, militarism and greed so deepset that it is no use for the United States to try to change it. The United States is the only white-souled nation, the only honorable and peace-seeking people. The others are, somehow, different: they are feverishly hunting for other people's land and money, and it is no use talking to them until they, like Americans, come to see a certain great light which Mr. McCormick thinks it is useless for us to point out to them, even if we know what it is.

Mr. McCormick went to Europe determined to see that which he believed, and had expressed so often that it had become a creed with him. He had no trouble in seeing it. Other Americans—notably large groups of bankers and business men—are inclining toward the view that this marking up of Europe in the last column is a poor and unprofitable pessimism; that we can get to work and exert a mighty influence if we please, and that the mass of Europe is as eager for peace as ourselves. “We cannot dispose of these problems by calling them European,” said Secretary Hughes, the other day. “They are world problems and we cannot escape the injurious consequences of a failure to settle them.”

Europe's misery can be taken in two ways: either that Europe is beyond hope or that Europe is in urgent need of the cooperation of her chief creditor, whose business suffers every day that the necessary settlement and resumption of trade relations is delayed. Mr. McCormick prefers the first: he wants the terrible truth dinned into Europe by a “painful failure” which will certainly involve the United States. The great mass of forward-looking business men and the farmers would rather see us involved in preventing the failure. In the senate William E. Borah is engaged in fighting McCormick-Johnson pessimism with a demand that we do something before despairing.

LIMITATIONS OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

Those members of the senate who are, perhaps with a sense of sturdy patriotism and certainly in a spirit excusable in private transactions, lining up against the British debt terms are forgetting that a nation cannot be regarded in the same business light as an individual.

There are no bankruptcy courts for nations, and there is no way to force Great Britain to pay our terms except to go to war with her, a method which would find no favor here even if its probable failure were not now being demonstrated by the French. The only way for Great Britain to pay the debt to us is by taxing her people, and it is well known that there are limits to taxation beyond which the income diminishes, as well as limits to the patience of the taxed people, who can change their government when they please. Great Britain has agreed to pay us our full credit against her in 62 years, with interest at 3 1/2 per cent after the first ten years at 3 per cent, because she wants to maintain the principle of the sanctity of contracts between governments. She is paying because she can look ahead and see the consequences, in all international credit relations, of setting a precedent for dodging obligations.

It is going to be a severe burden to the British people, already taxed almost to the limit and supporting a large part of the population out of government doles, to meet the payments even at the interest rate proposed, and it is also going to be something of a bother for us to receive them. The payments must be in bank credits or in gold, and as Britain is not flush in gold she will be compelled to obtain credits here by the sale of goods to us or from other nations selling to us. This promises an interesting competition. The senators who are squabbling about a difference of three-quarters of one cent should consider that we shall be quite fortunate if we succeed in collecting on any terms without occasional suspensions to avoid creating a deal of misery in Britain and harming ourselves commercially. There are many problems about international debts which can take them out of the realm of private bills and payments.

The principal argument raised against the projected terms is that they do not provide an income equal to that which our government must pay to the Liberty bond holders who loaned the money. There seems to be every indication, however, that Secretary Mellon intends to refund these home securities into bonds maturing at the same time as the British debt and carrying the same interest. It is a queer paradox in the senate that while these headline matters of income and outgo are being raised, a new effort is under way to take all British receipts for a soldiers' bonus without the least regard for the Liberty bond side of the equation.

HASTE MAKES WASTE

Dictator Mussolini, the Italian premier, delivered a facious address to the members of the Chateaufort Union of Rome. As becomes an autocrat, he has a ear of his own; so he called the automobile pilots “fellow chauffeurs.”

The talk which he made to the manipulators of the steering wheel and gear lever gave a fair idea of his mental proclivities and his theories of government. It was fraught with speciousness. “This is a day of movement,” he said. “Every-one must increase his gait in office and in factory. The government over which I have the honor to preside is a government of speed.”

The trouble with the whole world at the present time is that it mistakes speed for progress. There is not enough thoroughness, not enough serious thinking. All nations are apparently imbued with the misimpression that action and movement are work and advancement.

KEEPING AN EYE ON STORMS AND ICEBERGS

Hagbard Ekeroid, Norwegian engineer, has a plan to forecast great storms and blizzards a week or ten days ahead of their coming and to give due warning as to the courses and locations of icebergs. The United States and Canada, Europe, and ships on the high seas will be informed, according to his plan, of the rise, extent, severity and direction of every great storm.

He contemplates girdling the arctic circle with radio stations, one far up in the North Atlantic, one in the Canadian Arctic region, and one at the top of Alaska. These stations, near the source of the storms, would flash danger signals instantaneously, and preparations for safety and protection could be made in ample time.

The Ekeroid plan is not an imaginary design. It is based on scientific knowledge. Most threatening blizzards can be foretold to persons living south of the frigid zone, even to many in that zone.

Stormy weather blows from the North Pole. Ekeroid has a wireless station, the farthest north, on Yan Mayen island, north of latitude 70. He has been able to send timely warnings to ships plying the north Atlantic, saving many lives and much property. Ekeroid proposes to let us know when a storm leaves the North Pole and when we may look for its arrival.

HOT MUSTARD FOOT BATH

If, while you are trying to rescue a drowning person, he tries to make it a double drowning, it is good practice to hit him hard on the jaw; when he is subdued and amenable you can drag him ashore and resuscitate him in the proper manner. A similar procedure is necessary in many instances when one is trying to help a victim who is struggling in the first stages of some acute respiratory infection such as bronchitis, pneumonia, coryza or the flu. If the victim won't creep quietly into bed where you can administer the hot mustard foot bath in the only safe and proper manner hit him (at least figuratively) on the jaw before he grows too sick. Victims of such illness who persist in sitting up or, worse, in keeping about and trying to “fight it off,” with or without dopping themselves meanwhile, require stern treatment for their own good.

Having dragged the victim into bed, having placed him between blankets and in only a sketchy nightgown, it is good practice to appeal to what superstition he may have by offering him something hot to drink. Probably a pint or more of lemonade as hot as may be borne is the best beverage though almost any of grandma's favorite herb teas or plain tea or coffee or cranberry tea or ginger tea will do very well if taken in liberal quantities and as hot as his sip. Anything but booze, genuine or disguised. The worst time in life to become even slightly intoxicated is just before a battle, for if the illness proves to be pneumonia or the “flu” the patient will require all his resources to win the fight. It is not less than criminal to handicap him at the outset with a narcotic like alcohol.

The ancient theory that whisky or brandy was good medicine in such cases rested on a pessimistic or fatalistic view—that the poor fellow was likely to die anyway, so why not let him die happy? There are still to be found doctors and there a few surgeons and physicians who think well of this fatalistic view—and of booze. But folks should bear in mind that excellent surgeons and the best of specialists are usually very poor therapeutically have little knowledge or experience in that line; indeed the best of them freely admit their incompetence as therapeutists. But alcohol is misleading us, it has nothing to do with hot mustard foot bath.

Having bedded your man down and fed him his pot of soup you should next bring out the foot tub, not a wash basin nor a pail nor a jardiniere, but a small or trial size tub, something big enough for the human foot. Set it unobtrusively in the bed and place in it the patient's feet and two or three gallons of hot water. Need I say that the patient's knees are flexed to permit this, so as not to fill the bed with water? Roll up the water a table-spoon of mustard foot. Stir up your sleeves and begin to dip out a dipperful every minute or so, adding a dipperful of hotter water. The idea is to impose your own calm idea of what constitutes hot water on the patient's rather excited and unreasonable notions. If your hand will endure it, the patient's feet can, three in fact the success of the h. m. f. b. hinges.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Diphtheria

My 4 year old son was treated with toxin antitoxin as a preventive of diphtheria at the age of 17 months. Is this “shot” still effective or must he be treated again to be safe? J. myself, was “shot” in January, 1919, with the preventive for typhoid. Is that shot still effective or must I be shot again to be safe? J. S.

Answer.—The immunity against diphtheria produced by the toxin-antitoxin, and the immunity against typhoid produced by the prophylactic bacterin are not absolute forms of immunity, but a relative immunity sufficient to protect against all ordinary infections for a few years. The immunity so produced probably diminishes gradually, year by year. Just how long one may be considered I do not know.

No Bad Habits Is Embarrassing

(From The New York Sun.)

It is annoying to lack bad habits. If you refrain from nicotine, for example, men are constantly offering you cigarettes or cigars, and when you refuse exclaiming amazedly: “You don't smoke?” as though this were most extraordinary. It scarcely seems possible to them.

They ask questions. They ask whether you used to smoke and swore off, and if so why; or whether you never started, and if not why not. They look at you with big wondering eyes. In short, they cause you to feel decidedly like a two-headed man, or a bearded woman, or a Siamese twin.

For the nondrinker matters are equally embarrassing. Nobody ever believes him. “You don't drink! Aw, don't try to tell us that stuff now!” They suspect you of hiding something. And nowadays your host is likely to feel at least faintly insulted, thinking, as he does, that you are dubious as to the composition of the stuff he is offering.

But paramount among the exasperating nonhabits is that which relates to coffee.

The coffee abstainer never has a chance. He is beaten before he starts. The whole world is in league against him, subtly plotting the downfall of his will power.

You dine at the home of a friend, and you are given coffee. Rather than undergo the old, weary round of catechizing, or rather than be challenged to a duel, you discreetly allow the stuff to remain untouched, endeavoring to divert attention from your abstinence by toying with the cup as though you had just set it down; or was just about to lift it to your lips. Sometimes this ruse is effective. But most times it isn't.

CAPITOL JOKES

BY JOHN E. RAKER
U. S. Representative from California, Second District

THE difference between theoretical knowledge and practical is illustrated by the story of the farmer who wandered into a chemical laboratory. He found several young chemists busy with retorts and test tubes.

“What are you trying to do?” he asked.

“We're endeavoring,” replied one of the students, condescendingly, “to discover or invent a universal solvent.”

“A liquid that will dissolve anything.”

“That's a great idea,” agreed the farmer. “When you find it, what you gonna keep it in?”

TRAFFIC CONDITIONS ARE BAD IN WASHINGTON, TOO

“I'm going to have one of those Hirsh-Wickwire suits next Pay Day”

The other evening our Mr. Sauter stopped in the store about 9 o'clock to get a forgotten package and heard the following remark made by a young man who was looking in our window—

“Nice clothes, Fred,—and nice people too—see that dark gray Norfolk made by Hirsh-Wickwire Co.—that will be mine next pay day.”

Hundreds of ideas inside—but the big idea is this; our clothes in the window will look better on you than they do on the dummies.

The Week In Washington

BY HARRY HUNT

Washington—Confirmation of Justice Edward Terry Sanford the newest member of the Supreme Court, might have been complicated had prohibition senators seen the telegram received by a Washington newspaper the day following Sanford's nomination.

This message, hot off the wires from a diligent correspondent in Sanford's home city read: “Chattanooga bartenders banquet Judge Sanford.”

That seemed like quite one stuff to the managing editor. Also, it seemed too good a story to be true. So he queried for verification.

Then it was found that the telegrapher had improperly spaced his words. The correct message was: “Chattanooga bar tenders banquet to Judge Sanford.”

Wonder if there was any “inside” significance to something we saw at the White House the other day.

In a small study which opens off the president's office we saw, on the wall, a great map of central Europe. That, of course, didn't suggest anything. Everybody has maps of central Europe on their office walls these days.

But, propped up on the arms of a chair, at just the height one might wish a map in order to examine it in detail, was another map, framed of the Franco-German border to the Ruhr basin.

Maybe, despite what opposition senators say, Harding is studying that situation a lot more than appears on the surface.

Elmer Dover, recently assistant secretary of the treasury, reported as the likely next chairman of the Republican National Committee, qualified as a future financier when, in his teens, he was a newspaper reporter at Portsmouth, N. H.

“I had a string of about a dozen papers,” Dover says in recounting his first financial exploit. “Whenever anything happened around Portsmouth I'd query them and send them as much as they wanted.”

“One morning I got a tip there had been a murder at Pennville. I queried my papers and 10 of them ordered stories. Then I and the correspondent of a Cincinnati paper hired a livery rig and drove to Pennville for the story.”

“It proved to be a suicide instead of a murder, but there was a story in it and I filed to all the papers.”

“When I was making up my string” at the end of the month, I was confronted by this dilemma. The other newspaperman and I had paid $5 for the livery rig, splitting it $2.50 each way.

“It I prepaid that among the 10 papers to which I sent the story, it would make an item for livery worth 25 cents each, which on its face would appear absurd. If I entered it at $2.50 it would be open admission that I had split expenses with some other correspondent. For $5 would be recognized as the probable and reasonable livery charge for a drive to Pennville.”

“So I added a charge of $5 for livery hire to my bill to each of the 10 papers. And every one of them paid it!”

It rises about 700 feet above the comparatively level surrounding country, and its bulk has been estimated at over 7,000,000,000 cubic feet.

A delightful evening was spent by those who saw the second performance of the Rotary-Lions minstrel show in Appleton theater Tuesday evening for benefit of the boy scouts. The house was filled with the exception of a portion of the gallery.

An added feature at this presentation was the jokes of a colored newsboy in the person of Karl Mory, who went through the "train," selling papers and magazines on Tuesday evening. This did away with the full in the program between the specialty numbers.

Avenues of Service

REGINALD McKENNA, head of the largest bank in the world, says that "Splendid isolation is a dream," a truth which every industrial leader accepts as axiomatic. Had he substituted monopoly for isolation he would have expressed another self-evident truth which would have been acclaimed by every man who has given serious thought to the development of business on a large scale.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a big business striving to do a big job in a big way, yet no thought is given to achieving a monopoly: for those who direct the Company's activities know that in any basic industry such an ambition is impossible of fulfillment. Competition is welcome, for no single organization can hope to serve the people of the Middle West with petroleum products as they should be served. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) enjoys a large volume of business and is satisfied to let this volume take care of its profits.

There is a reciprocal bond between every great industrial organization and the social environment in which it operates. An organization is truly great only when the service it renders is great.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is in daily contact with a community of about 30 million people.

It serves them through a host of useful products refined from petroleum. Through these products it touches the home and industrial life of the people. It enters the sick chamber with mineral oil and petroleum jelly. It enters the factory, the roundhouse, and the farmyard with lubricating oils for machines, engines, and tractors. It seeks the farm home with gasoline, kerosene, candles and paraffin. It touches the railroad right of way with Fortnite Long Time Burner Oil for signal lamps; it supplies thousands of public and private garages with gasoline and lubricants. It feeds the furnaces of homes and factories with Stanolind Furnace Oil. It goes to the hospital with Stanolind Surgical Wax. It paves the streets with Stanolind Paving Asphalt.

These are but a few of the avenues of service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains. To keep these avenues open the Company operates 1700 service stations, 3900 bulk stations, 7000 tank wagons serving thousands of garages, and 6 great refineries to supply their needs.

Thus does the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) acknowledge its reciprocal bond, and by creating a host of useful, essential products from a single, basic raw material—crude petroleum—justify its claim to master craftsmanship in industrial husbandry.

Birthday Of Great Statesmen Will Be Remembered In Program

Lincoln souvenirs will be given each guest at the Lincoln day forum banquet of the chamber of commerce in Conway hotel Monday evening. It happens that the forum date falls on Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday anniversary, and the speaker therefore will build his talk along this line. The subject to be presented by Dr. Harris Franklin Hall, Evanston, will be, "Lincoln and Democracy."

Dr. Hall is a man who early in his address can draw attention of every person to his subject. His personality, his oratory and quality of his message and hold his hearers until his last word is spoken. The handclapping all ways is loud and long when he finishes.

The speaker is one of the great educators of the middlewest, and has as his specialty sociological service. He tells his common sense may be made more wholesome through a solid moral foundation. Dinner reservations are to be made by Saturday night.

Hirst Weight Tax Bill Means Increase In Cost Of Automobile Licenses

Highway Engineer Expects To Raise $8,000,000 By Assessing Automobiles On A Basis Of Their Weight

Automobile license fees on all makes of cars except Fords and cars 3½ less weight will be materially increased if the legislature adopts the new revenue bill which is to be brought before a meeting of the joint highway committee of the legislature Wednesday night. This measure, which was drawn by A. R. Hirst, is expected to provide about $8,000,000 a year from automobile licenses. It provides for a graduated license fee based upon weight of cars.

Under terms of the bill drawn by the highway engineer at the direction of the legislative committee, automobiles up to 2,000 pounds would pay 65 cents for each one, hundred pounds; between 2,000 pounds and 2,800 pounds and all over 2,800 pounds would pay 80 cents on the same basis.

HEAVIER CARS PAY MORE
This is effect is an automobile weight surtax, apportioned in such a way as to place the heaviest burden of highway cost on the owner of the heaviest car. It would produce $8,000,000 annually from the 438,000 automobiles which it is estimated, will be used throughout Wisconsin during 1924.

According to tables prepared by Mr. Hirst 84.5 per cent of the automobiles would go in the first weight class; 17.72 per cent would fall in the second class and 17.78 per cent would be in the third class.

Personal property taxes on automobiles in Wisconsin would continue to be levied as in the past, under the committee bill. It is a less comprehensive proposal than that offered by the legislative committee of the county board's association, although estimated to double present returns from automobile owners.

BLAINE PLAN DEFEATED
The plan of Governor Blaine for a combined horse-power and weight license fee was blasted by the committee when Mr. Hirst brought in a table showing that 33 makes of cars, more expensive than the Ford, had a smaller horse-power, resulting in a relatively high tax for the cheaper car.

Following is the table prepared by the highway engineer to show the license fee imposed by the proposed law on a number of makes of automobiles:

Make	Weight	On a Graduated Weight Tax
Ford	2100	$31.00
Cadillac	4000	40.00
Chevrolet (small)	1800	11.70
Cole	3600	36.00
Dodge	2500	20.80
Dort (4)	2400	19.20
Essex	2600	20.80
Ford	1500	10.00
Franklin	2500	20.00
Hudson	3400	34.00
Hupmobile	2600	20.80
Kissell	3700	37.00

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers To Take Salts To Get Rid of Toxic Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should cut out sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity.

In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first warning of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons. Jad Salts is expensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

FARMERS DOING MORE PURCHASING

Agricultural Conditions On Mend Financially, U. S. Reports Show

Agriculture continues financially on the mend according to Department of Agriculture figures just released.

The index number of the purchasing power of farm products in terms of other commodities that farmers buy is placed at 66 for December. The average for the year is 69, compared with 67 in 1921 and with 56 in 1920.

The improved condition for December is brought about by an increase of five points in the index number of the average farm prices of 10 leading crops and a decrease of one point in the price of commodities, excluding farm and food products that farmers buy.

For the year the average farm prices of 10 leading crops is given an index number of 113 as compared with 109 in 1921 and with 238 in 1920. The average farm price for the year of live stock is placed at 11, compared with 107 in 1921 and with 168 in 1920. ## OUTBREAK OF INFLUENZA GROWS MORE SERIOUS

Epidemic Conditions Again Threaten Danger To Thousands

Gain Strength to Resist the Germ by Taking Father John's Medicine

Health authorities say that an epidemic of influenza is now threatened in many sections of the country and the need for caution is greater than ever. The disease appears to have really come back and while doctors urge calmness, they admit that the danger is everywhere present and every safeguard should be taken.

Your greatest danger from the germ is when you are tired or run down. In this condition your system is unable to fight off the disease germ and you need a strengthening food tonic such as Father John's Medicine to rebuild your resisting power. The pure food elements of Father John's Medicine make new strength and fighting power. If you catch cold your danger is even greater because colds quickly develop into grip or pneumonia. Every home should keep Father John's Medicine on hand during this time of danger because it is the logical, safe remedy for colds. Its soothing elements heal the irritated lining of the breathing passages; its gentle laxative effect drives out impurities and its strengthening elements are of great value. Guaranteed absolutely free from alcohol or any dangerous narcotic drugs in any form. Father John's Medicine may be taken with safety by every member of the family. The danger from cough or cold "cures" containing morphine or opium in any of its disguised forms is especially great at this time because these narcotics weaken the patient, depress the heart action and open the way for more serious illness. adv.

pair like the two who came skimming forward like a swallow, the man and the horse—there could not be. They seemed not two but one, so perfectly did they blend together in motion and appearance. The rider carried his broad black hat in his hand and the wind of their coming blew the black hair back from his white forehead, and his face was bright with laughter to greet the old priest in the gate.

"Father!" he cried as the great red horse thundered up to slide in the dust and stop with his haunches to the earth, his fiery eyes a shine in his broad bay face. "Hullo, Ave!"

He flung himself from the saddle and caught the padre's hands in both his own, pumping them up and down, boy fashion.

"My son!" said Father Hillaire, gladly, searching the sparkling face. "Son—son!" It has been long, long since Refugio has seen you. Come in. Have you eaten?"

"Not since yesterday, but what matters?"

He laid his arm affectionately about the old man's shoulders and turned toward the garden, carefully gathering the bride rein he had not loosened.

So they entered the garden, drawing the great red stallion after, and the father stopped and securely closed the gates.

"Bonifacio," he called into the depths where the shadows were already falling, "come and take The Comet. Give him," he continued as a slim youth came briskly up through the wasatcha trees, "a little water—not much—and rub him down well. Then a feed from the bins in the north stable. Keep watch upon him thyself until I call."

Dusky women their faces moist with the sweetness of that house, went noiselessly about the setting of the evening meal, and old Josephina, for many years the chachina, greeted the stranger with a warmth of recognition in her wrinkled features.

And so, presently, Velantrie of the Bowler sat at the long table with the padre of Refugio and ate as one famished, though with grace and manners. He bowed his black head through the short blessing and with held his hand with a slow repression, though hunger was with him keenly.

When the meal was finished the two men went outside again to the starlight and the dry garden, drew together the worn chairs by the little table where lay the ancient books, and talked in that deep communion which comes with liking and understanding.

Twilight deepened and the tip of Velantrie's cigarette glowed in the dusk, sign-making of comfort.

"They talked swiftly and nearly, and the padre leaned forward and laid his worn hand on Velantrie's knee."

"Oh, my son," he said softly, "I have grieved over this waste for all the months I have known you! Loss—loss! It is not right, a crime against humanity for a man like you—a man who can control himself—to cast his high chance to the four winds."

Velantrie smiled in the gathering darkness.

"You know, father," he said, "that I'd take that from home but you."

"I know," said the priest firmly, "and I dare I have dared much in my time. The keen knife is the kindest. I dare because I love you."

"And I take it and come back—for the same reason. See," he laid aside the cigarette in his fingers and reached in a pocket on his hip.

"I have ridden a day and half a night to bring you this. I will cover the same ground in the next few hours to get back from whence I came. But the bringing gives me joy."

He lifted the old man's hand and placed there a buckskin bag, heavy, and musical with the dull clink of gold.

"Take it," he said, "it's yours."

But Father Hillaire shuddered and his fingers slipped loose from the other's pressure, so that the bag fell back upon the table.

"I can't," he said sadly, "it is tainted gold."

"True," said Velantrie, gaily, "I took it from a mine-owner who owns a thousand pesos, soul and body, who drives them through hunger and oppression down into the darkness of death with never a hope or a comfort." His soft voice had become suddenly hard and bitter.

Father Hillaire caught his own breath in a sigh.

"Oh, my son! I cannot vision such a thing! It cuts me to the heart!"

Being Fat Is Not So Bad As Is Pictured

BY MARGARET ROHE

Though fat men haven't any sides, The cultured world, today, Is taking sides for and against them, so the papers say.

New York—Whether fat is funny or fatal is the big question now agitating the Paris boulevard almost to the exclusion of the Ruhr situation.

Since Henri Beraud, the plump journalist, won the Prix Goncourt for his novel based on the tragedy of too much adipose tissue, called "The Fat Martyr," the waistline has held the center of the stage.

Henri sees only the dark side of the fat question. The huge shadow cast by the portly person obscures for him entirely the fact that on the reverse side the sun has as relatively a huge expanse to shine.

RATHER TOO MUCH For Henri, fat could only mean the first three letters in fatal, since for every true Frenchman the grand passion is the paramount issue of life. Business, politics, art, are all incidental to "l'amour." Of course, Don Juaning, with a 50-inch waist, would be a bit thick.

Curiously enough, it is also a journalist who has taken up the fight for the fat on this side of the water. William Johnstone, the well-known Sunday editor of a New York paper, has published a small book on a big subject, called "The Fun of Being a Fat Man." No greater authority on the subject could well be found, since Mr. Johnstone, on the privacy of his bath-room scales, weighs in at 250 pounds.

Yet for him fat spells fun. He contends that the fats get much more pleasure out of life than the thins. They really enjoy good food and can eat to their heart's and stomach's content. They always have cheerful and generous dispositions, and optimism and optimism are measured in equal portions according to heft. Indeed, the only tragedy Mr. Johnstone admits in a fat man's life is the fact that he can't wear a light-gray, checked suit successfully, or sit in a canoe.

Since business and bank rolls are the main concerns of an American man's life, with the love motif merely incidental, it is plain to be seen that the expansive waistline is no detriment in Wall Street.

Mr. Johnstone counts over, on pudgy fingers, the many great men of the past who were generously accoutred with flesh. There's Cromwell, Napoleon, Bismarck, Balzac, to mention a few—to say nothing of having with us today in our very own American midst ex-President Taft, Irvin Cobb and Babe Ruth.

It is the stressing of the fact that fat is synonymous with generous good nature that makes the greatest appeal in Mr. Johnstone's book, however. Surely every American wife who reads it will immediately begin feeding her better half on peanuts and ice cream with hot chocolate sauce until he becomes a puffed up three-fourth. Who wouldn't prefer an amiable, easy-going, chunky spouse to a lean, irritable Lethario?

Adventures Of The Twins

Stuck In Fog

The magic automobile in which Nancy and Nick were riding to Fairyland was stuck again.

No, it wasn't mud this time—it was fog. Thick, white, steamy, wet fog that had settled down like a blanket and covered everything.

"I think it's awfully queer," said Nancy. "The sun was out just a little while ago as bright as anything and now just look at it. I never saw fog come in the daytime before."

"Neither did I," said Nick. "Maybe it's magic fog."

"I bet you that's it," declared Nancy. "I bet you Light Fingers is trying to steal our automobile again and he's doing something with the weather."

All the Twins could do was to guess, but they were nearer right than they knew. Light Fingers was indeed fooling with the weather—he and Comet-Legs, the other bad little fairy who had crooked legs and rode on a star.

The two of them, mind you were up in the sky in Bluster-Gust Land and were monkeying with Mr. Sprinkle-Blow's things. Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, was away.

"Well," said Light Fingers gleefully, "the rain we sent down didn't do any good. It didn't wreck the Twins at all! Now what can we do?"

Suddenly Comet-Legs saw the barrel marked "Dense Fog."

"Oh, look here," he cried. "We'll empty this and they can't go anywhere else. Then we can catch them."

And that's where the fog came from.

QUILTED JACKETS

Quilted silk is used to make smart little short jackets that are worn with straight, plain skirts. Sometimes beading, embroidery or braiding is used about the collar and cuffs. In Paris, these quilted garments are extensively shown.

DIAMONDS AND JADE

The combination of jade and diamonds is a pleasing one when it occurs in a pair of ear rings. The carved jade drop pendants from a double chain of tiny diamonds.

HOW TO PREVENT WRINKLES

Thin people are inclined to have wrinkles and flabby skin.

To correct this, proper breathing will help greatly.

Throw the shoulders back as far as you can and raise your arms to your head, inhaling as you do so; exhale as you lower the arms.

Do this morning and night, at least ten times.

After your breathing exercises, apply a good tissue cream to the face, patting gently into the skin and turn your head from side to side as you do so.

Starting at the shoulders, rub gently up toward the ears, manipulating the muscles around, directly under the ears.

This tightens the fine network of muscles under the chin.

At night, before retiring, cleanse the skin with a good cream, remove it and then pat in the tissue cream. Also a bandage or support for the neck and chin.

Apply a layer of cream and leave it on all night, so the pores may absorb every particle of nourishment they can take.

In the morning use a cleansing cream, remove and then apply an astringent.

After this, you can dust on a powder—one that is not too heavy.

The foods that you eat, if you are thin, should be rich. Plenty of milk, eggs, vegetables, fresh fruit and cooked fruit are very good.

Also drink plenty of water—six or eight glasses of water a day, between meals.

If you are very thin, substitute for some of the water, good rich milk.

Bathe the body daily, but if your face is very thin do not wash it with water but use cleansing cream.

SMART GOWN

This simple yet effective frock, worn by Helen Jenkins, New York society girl, ought to give some suggestions to home dressmakers.

The cloth-of-silver bodice is joined to a skirt of blue georgette. The ruffles, of sapphire blue velvet, are lined with silver cloth.

The shoulder line is new and very smart.

VANITY CASES

Smart vanity cases are worn now about the waist. They come in black enamel, jeweled or plain, and finished about the wrist with a cord from which hangs a long black tassel.

BRACELETS

The newest bracelets are worn as near the shoulder as possible. They are jeweled or enameled, so that they give an effect of barbaric color.

GOOD MANNERS

Guests arriving at a public dance should greet the patronesses with a friendly smile and word or two, as at a private affair, but it is not required that they should offer their hands to be shaken unless the patronesses take the initiative.

The guests may stay for a dance or two or for the evening, as they please. On leaving, it is unnecessary for them to seek out the patronesses to say goodby.

JEWELLED SHOULDER STRAPS

Jewelled shoulder straps for evening frocks are a recent novelty in Paris. They take the place of the fabric straps and are usually a combination of diamonds and sapphires, or diamond and emeralds. Pearls are effectively used this way.

BLACK AND WHITE

Overblownness of white crepe or lace are effectively worn with black dull crepe costumes. The black and white combination is particularly effective this season when there is such a quantity of color shown, and so many figured silks.

St. Valentine Salad

2 cups white cherries (canned)
3 pinelitos (canned red peppers)
4 slices canned pineapple
1 grapefruit
1 cup well-seasoned mayonnaise
1/2 cup cream beaten until stiff
1 head lettuce or escarole.
Remove pits from cherries; cut pineapples into small pieces; cut pineapple into dice, and remove sections from grapefruit, cutting them into shreds. Add a sprinkling of salt and thoroughly chill the fruit. When ready to serve mix with the mayonnaise and cream. Into the puffy hearts place three heart leaves of lettuce or escarole and on these place a spoonful of the fruit salad. Dust with paprika and serve.

For the puffy hearts use:
1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Ice water
1 cup grated cheese mixed with

1/4 teaspoon salt and a few grains of cayenne
1/4 cup lard
1/4 cup butter
Mix flour, salt and lard together. Moisten to a stiff dough with the ice water. Take onto a floured board; roll out, spread with the butter, sprinkle with flour, fold into three folds and chill. Roll out to one-fourth inch in thickness. Sprinkle with cheese; fold, roll out and repeat twice, using a third of the cheese each time. Again chill, then roll to one-fourth inch in thickness, and with a heart-shaped cutter, cut as many hearts as desired for individual service. With a pointed knife or another smaller cutter remove center, leaving a wall half an inch thick. Bake these in a hot oven until delicately browned, and well risen, about fifteen minutes. Cool and use as directed above.

Plenty Of Soap Stops Blackheads

Blackheads—horrible, unsightly blemishes! But they are not so difficult to keep in check as some people think. The very best method is steaming the face with boiling water. But it is not always convenient to do this regularly. However, if the following treatment is applied once a week, the result should be a skin free from blackheads.

The face should first be bathed well in very hot water. Then dry it and gently press out any large and stubborn blackheads with the finger and thumb wrapped in a clean handkerchief. Rub a good cream into the skin, using a gentle, circular motion, and getting well into the pores.

Now well wipe the face and bathe it in warm water. Bathe a second time in cold water to which a few drops of eau de Cologne has been added, and dab dry with a soft clean towel. The little holes where the blackheads were should be touched with peroxide of hydrogen, to help them heal.

People who are subject to blackheads should always use plenty of soap and friction for their faces. This treatment may make the skin smart at first, but it will soon get used to it. There is nothing better for enlarged pores than friction, and it is these enlarged pores that cause the ugly blackheads.

It is surely unnecessary to add that the face must always be thoroughly well rinsed after soap has been used.

We'll Soon Be Running Home By Pushing Buttons

"Cooks of the future will work in shifts, but they won't be shiftless," Ethel R. Peyser takes this hopeful view of the "help problem."

"That is," she amends, "if we still have cooks. They may be eliminated entirely, if we keep on condensing food and trying to get thin."

"But if she stays with us," continues Miss Peyser, "the cook's bound to undergo a rapid evolution. Looking ahead, I see household becoming more and more systematized, until we reach the tabloid kitchen with most of the work done outside."

AUTHOR OF A BOOK Miss Peyser is counsel to several New York advertising firms, which call on her for new angles for copy and retain her to pass on the practicability of household inventions before they're placed on the market.

Also she's author of a humorous volume—"Cheating the Junk Pie."

"I see women," she says, "conducting their households as men do their offices and factories—by pushing buttons."

"The hired girl's extinct already, I see, within another generation, the disappearance of such household servants as still survive."

"In their place we will have trained individuals with college degrees—domestic engineers."

"The position of the future domestic engineer will be as dignified as that of the civil or electrical engineer today."

"Domestic engineers will work in six-hour shifts. They'll know their jobs thoroughly, and be responsible for results. They'll receive experts' not menials' pay.

"Schools of the future, besides teaching girls to cook, sew and launder, will educate them in the handling of machinery and to an understanding of the driving forces behind them.

"Students will work well because they will work intelligently."

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS
As has been said before, this newspaper is strong for amateur sports, believes they should be encouraged and a support to the limit should be given preference over professional sports.
It has not gone so far as to believe that a professional player in any sport—baseball, football, basketball, boxing—is any worse morally for having played for pay or is any less a star athlete because he has received some compensation other than glory for his efforts.

We cannot understand the attitude of athletic officials of the Big Ten conference who have blacklisted every football player who has played in professional games.

The University of Wisconsin also is showing the same hostile spirit toward men who played professional football, even including some of its own great athletes in its discrimination.

Williams Certain To Break Record As Wisconsin All-Round Athlete

When the final whistle blew in the basketball game between Wisconsin and Indiana at Bloomington on Jan. 8, Rolfe Williams, star athlete of Wisconsin, had tied the record of all time for Wisconsin's greatest all-round athlete. The record has just been made public.

The Indiana game gave Williams his eighth varsity letter, a feat unequalled since Guy Sundt in 1922 broke the record of Eber Simpson. Simpson made his record with seven varsity letters in 1918.

In addition, Williams won his letters when athletic competition was at its heights in Wisconsin. It is no detraction from Sundt to point out that he broke the Simpson record during the period which was marked by S. A. T. C. year when athletics were at their ebb in all colleges over the country.

But Williams' honor is expected to be the greater before the end of the school year. He is slated for a left field berth on the varsity baseball team, which would give him his ninth letter.

This would break all Wisconsin records and make Rolfe the greatest all-round athlete, officially, the Cardinal has ever produced!

Williams is the ideal type of college athlete. There has never been any question as to his scholarship as he has always stood high in class and is of a somewhat studious type. He is personally popular outside of that popularity which comes as a bit of glamor to the varsity athlete.

His first year in basketball he was a universal choice as all-western guard. He has been placed on most All-Conference and many All-Western football teams.

In baseball, he is a flashy fielder and a fair hitter. His speed allowed him to cover lots of ground. He was a dangerous man on the bases, and although there are more consistent hitters in the conference, he has always been a dangerous man in a pinch.

At the meeting a week ago the employees promised, in fact, practically assured that matters would be settled this time. Should the parley fail, it is understood that the Wisconsin State league of which Appleton is a member, will go ahead with its own plans of organizing a six or eight club league.

LAWRENCE STILL IN RUNNING FOR LITTLE 5 PLACE

Carroll, Ripon And Lawrence Battling For Second Position

While Lawrence is practically out of the running for the championship of the Little Five, it still has an excellent chance to end second place, Beloit, with a clean slate in the conference, is sure of the title, but second place still is between Carroll, Ripon and Lawrence, with Lawrence having the edge. Lawrence has been defeated three times, losing twice to Beloit and once to Ripon. Ripon has been defeated twice, losing once to Beloit and once to Carroll and Carroll has been defeated by Ripon. Lawrence still has one more game to play with Ripon and two with Carroll and if it wins them all it is in a pretty good position. Unless Beloit suffers a sharp reversal in form, it will beat both Carroll and Ripon in their next meetings.

Carroll comes here Thursday night for its first tilt with Lawrence. The Waukesha school has developed a good team this year, with a strong offensive and a marvelous defense. It showed its strength by defeating Ripon which had defeated Lawrence.

Lawrence, on the other hand, is going better than at any time this season. The loss of Grover and Kotal was a serious blow to the collegians and they fell into a slump, but Kotal has returned to the game and immediately the squad perked up. A marked improvement in the style of play was apparent at once.

Will Baseball War In State Cease Tonight?

Will the hatchet be buried? That's the question baseball fans throughout Wisconsin are asking Wednesday as the committees of the Wisconsin State league and the Wisconsin Valley Baseball league (Fox River Valley league) were preparing to meet Wednesday night in the Conway hotel in the second effort to patch up differences between the two units and form a new organization of eight clubs to give fandom better baseball.

At the meeting a week ago the employees promised, in fact, practically assured that matters would be settled this time. Should the parley fail, it is understood that the Wisconsin State league of which Appleton is a member, will go ahead with its own plans of organizing a six or eight club league.

TWO APPLICANTS ARE CONSIDERED FOR COUNTY AGENT

Committee Meets Washington-co Man—Will Convene

Milton H. Button, county farm agent for Washington-co, appeared at the meeting Tuesday and his qualifications were considered. Next Tuesday, Robert Amundsen, farm agent of Oconto-co, will meet the members of the committee. W. W. Clark of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, who is in charge of this district of farm agents, also will be present.

It was made clear at the meeting that in addition to the $3,000 which the county has appropriated for salary and expenses of the farm agent, the state will extend $1,800. The state will reserve $100 of the amount for the agents' expenses while on official business in Madison.

SPENCER UPHOLD IN THREE APPEALS

Attorney E. C. Smith Loses
Case Against Seymour
City Clerk

The Wisconsin Supreme court, when it announced its decisions on appeal cases on Tuesday, sustained the verdict of Judge A. M. Spencer in the case of State, ex rel E. C. Smith, against Charles Dean, city clerk at Seymour. Three appeals were taken from Judge Spencer's court to the Supreme court and the local judge was upheld in each case.

Attorney E. C. Smith brought action against Mr. Dean, as clerk of Seymour, to compel him to put Smith's name on the ballot as a candidate for city clerk. Judge Spencer held that the facts did not justify Mr. Dean in placing his name on the ballot and Smith appealed from the decision.

THYSSEN WORKS HUM DESPITE INVASION

Hamborn, Germany—Sixty-six thousand workmen employed in the various Thyssen plants at Hamborn, Muelheim, Duisburg and Dinslaken are working full time—three eight-hour shifts a day—and have not been affected either by the railroad strike or lack of fuel.

Locomotives are busy shunting cars in the immense railway yard of the plants which cover about ten square miles. They are built around seven pileheads and are thus provided each day with sufficient coal to supply the entire works with motive power.

"The French occupation has not interfered with us," is the opinion expressed at the Thyssen plants. "As a matter of fact it has helped us. We were having a lot of trouble with the Communist element among our workers, but the French occupation and the arrest of Fritz Thyssen lined them up solidly behind us."

FARM CREDIT BILLS STRIKE SNAG IN HOUSE

But the impression which many house leaders have is that the two plans cannot be made to work side by side and that the house would not itself in a very compromising position by allowing both to become law.

Mr. Harding has not advised the house which measure he prefers but has expressed the hope that legislation could be secured before March 4. That of course is the advantage which the house has in the situation—a prolonged wrangle would mean no legislation and another fight in the senate in the next session. There are members of the administration who feel that the present bills are tame compared to the measures that will be offered when the radical elements come into control in the next congress.

The criticism which one hears among house members is that the senate, "tried to please everybody." The Lenroot-Anderson bill went through by almost unanimous vote yet it is claimed that many members of the senate did not believe the measure would ultimately become law because they expected the house to change it materially. The theory commonly advanced is that some of the diplomats who steer things in the senate believed it would be wiser to let all the important farm credit bills go through and avoid a lengthy debate and thus pave the way for consideration of ship subsidy, the debt agreement and other measures which must be tackled in the remaining days before this session automatically ends on March 4. To have done otherwise might have stirred the wrath of the farm bloc and blocked everything.

In the house, however, the two bills can be drawn into one or else one dropped altogether and when the final bill is offered in conference between the two houses further modification can be made.

FENCING HIGHWAY GIVES B. H. DINEY THIRD COURT TRIAL

Oneida Man Declares He Owns Land Where Road Is Located

B. H. Diney, Oneida farmer, is in bad again. He believes he has more court trouble than he actually deserves. Only a few months ago a neighbor named Peter Weyenberg confiscated some of his pigs because he said they were breaking in upon his property and destroying a part of it. A decision in municipal court sustained his neighbor.

But that was not all. Diney found himself under arrest when he shot a neighbor's dog that had been trespassing on his property. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 for this offense. Diney appealed both cases and they are both on the circuit court calendar for next week.

But now B. H. Diney is in the county jail charged with obstructing traffic by placing a wire fence over a public highway which he claims as his own. The complaint was made by F. R. Appleton, town chairman of Oneida. Diney was asked to appear, but since he was indisposed, Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke was sent out to get him. He had not yet been arraigned Wednesday noon.

Jennerjohn and W. H. Greiner. John Goodland and Anton Mys were reelected show officers.

All bills and premiums connected with the poultry show two weeks ago were paid and it was decided to hold the next show the last week in January, 1924. The armory has already been secured for that date. The officers are very much elated over the success of the last show and are planning a still bigger one next year.

W. C. T. U. PROTESTS TOASTS AT MINSTREL

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance union on Tuesday entered a protest to both the Rotary and Lions clubs because of the reference to liquor throughout the minstrel show which both clubs sponsored for the benefit of the boy scouts. Members of the temperance society who were in the audience objected to the drinking song; to the show of glasses in the garden scene; and to the smoking of cigars in the same scene.

The women reported these acts to their society. The women objected strenuously because of the bad example which these things set for the boy scouts. They said their society does not approve of such things being brought to the attention of young people because of the bad effect.

Refuse French Offer Of $2.10 For Girl's Death

Berlin—The 100,000 paper marks offered by the French commander at Messeldorf to the parents of the little German girl accidentally killed by a bullet from the rifle of a French corporal on Sunday, has been refused by Dr. Gruetznar, provincial president. Advice received here say that speaking in the name of the German government, Dr. Gruetznar informed the French authorities that the offer was regarded as an "unheard of affront." (The sum mentioned, at the present rate of exchange, is the equivalent of $2.10.)

Dr. Gruetznar has advised the parents of the dead girl to proceed against the French authorities in the German courts. The shooting occurred at the railway station in Duisburg while a group of little girls were watching the detail of soldiers stationed there.

It is understood the French corporal whose gun was discharged will be court martialed.

Washington—The house interstates commerce committee approved the administration measure proposing to return millions of dollars worth of enemy alien property seized during the war.

THIS 100-YEAR-OLD FARMER THINKS HE HAS IT OVER COUE

Aurora, Ill.—Henry Challand, a retired farmer who celebrated his 100th birthday on Saturday, credits his recovery from an attack of influenza to "Coke."

"They told me it was my last sickness," he said, "but I didn't feel that way about it. So I had them get out the automobile and I began a round of visits. In no time I was alright because I got away from myself. That's the best remedy for sickness I know of, getting away from yourself. It's better than this man's every day in every way I am getting better and better" although that is good."
